

November 10-12, 2017

THE DIGITAL MAN

Are we becoming puppets of technology?

Weekend Seminar for Students in Zonnewende

Leidenhoven College (Amsterdam)

Studiecentrum Lepelenburg (Utrecht)

Studiecentrum Den Eker (Maastricht)

About the weekend

When was the last time you were with a group of friends, only to find out they seemed more interested in their smartphones than in conversation? How often have you made the firm resolution to study, but ended up watching Netflix all day? Whether we want it or not, technology is reshaping our lives in ways we never anticipated.

Many of these changes are clearly positive. Carrying maps, information and means of communication in our pockets is undoubtedly useful. On the other hand, critics argue that technology subtly influences our habits in ways we often don't want. It changes who we are.

This weekend seminar is an opportunity to think about the way technology affects our daily life. Are we becoming different persons without noticing? Are we happy with how things are going? Can we do something about it?

In addition, during the weekend there is ample time for self-reflection, sports and relaxation.

Conference Centre Zonnewende is an excellent location for this weekend. It is located in the midst of a park and a beautiful forest. It offers individual, well-furnished rooms for the participants as well as a chapel and inspiring sitting rooms for good conversation.

Practical information

Dates: the weekend begins on Friday 10 November at 19:30 and ends on Sunday 12 November at 15:30.

Location: Conferentieoord Zonnewende, Tilburgseweg 54, 5066 BV Moergestel.

Price: €70 for students // €140 for professionals. To be transferred to: Stichting SOKA, NL86 INGB 0005 1575 14, "verblijf Zonnewende 10-12 november 2017"

Notify your attendance and refer your questions to Paul Graas (paulgraas@gmail.com)

